Today's inspection was prompted by a complaint alleging a cockroach was observed on the coffee machine and that a biscuit sandwich was observed moldy on the bottom. Today's complaint inspection revealed the following: Sandwich biscuits are made by hand, wrapped in clear plastic and then frozen and kept in the freezer until needed. As stated by the operators, frozen biscuit sandwiches are pulled from the freezer unit on an as needed basis and placed into the refrigerated display case. Display case measured at 41 F today, three biscuit sandwiches were observed in the case. All three were checked for mold, no mold was observed on the three in the refrigerated display case. Approximately five frozen biscuit sandwiches were checked in the freezer unit today. None were observed with mold. The operators stated at the end of the business day, any biscuit sandwiches that are left in the refrigerated display are discarded and not held over to the next day.

The self serve beverage area, including the coffee dispenser were checked for cockroaches today. The operator stated the pest control service company was out at this site last month and will out at this location again this month. The coffee dispenser and some other self serve beverage units were opened up to check inside for cockroaches, no cockroaches were observed inside any of the units. One live cockroach was observed underneath the very far left side of the beverage counter.

All cold and hot holding temperatures measured today. Bi metallic stem thermometer was calibrated today. Hand wash sink and employee restroom were observed properly stocked.

At this time the complaint cannot be substantiated for the mold on the biscuit sandwich; However, a live cockroach was observed with in the area of the coffee machine and is therefore valid for cockroaches. Please correct the noted violation with in 30 days
